

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Quilty Analytics Adds Caleb Henry and Gerry Nagler to its Team of Satellite & Space Professionals

St. Petersburg, FL, October 12, 2020 – As interest in the global space industry continues to surge, Quilty Analytics is responding to increased demand for its research, investment banking advisory and strategic consulting services by adding to its team two highly respected experts in the Satellite & Space markets: Caleb Henry and Gerry Nagler.

Caleb Henry

Caleb Henry began his career as a reporter for satellite and space publications and, in just a few years, established a reputation as an outstanding journalist and industry thought leader. His ability to evaluate major news events and summarize implications across the industry – technical, commercial, regulatory and otherwise – made his articles in SpaceNews a “must read” for all those with an interest in space markets.

Caleb will assist in expanding Quilty Analytics’ coverage of the space industry and will work directly with the firm’s partners on serving clients.

Gerry Nagler

Gerry Nagler is a Senior Advisor to Quilty Analytics supporting the firm’s research, strategy, and consulting services. With 30+ years in satellite communications, Gerry brings to Quilty the unique qualification of having held senior management positions at both mobile and fixed satellite service (MSS and FSS) operators. Gerry was Director, Marketing at Telesat from 2002 to 2020 where he had a lead role in the company’s strategic planning, forecasting and competitive evaluations.

Gerry began his satcom career in the 1980s at COMSAT Corp. where he was promoted to Vice President. He then worked for Lockheed Martin in the same role following the COMSAT-Lockheed merger.

“Caleb Henry and Gerry Nagler have proven records evaluating major events across the space industry and explaining their implications in ways that will help Quilty clients make better investment and business decisions,” said Chris Quilty, Partner, Quilty Analytics. “The space industry is attracting a surge of interest from numerous corporate, government, and financial sponsor actors around the world who recognize that space-based technologies are increasingly important in maintaining and improving life on our planet. We are very pleased to serve our growing roster of clients who rely on our expertise, and we are excited to add Caleb and Gerry, further deepening our firm's commitment to providing outstanding advice to the sector."

About Quilty Analytics LLC <https://www.quiltyanalytics.com/>

Headquartered in St. Petersburg, FL, Quilty Analytics is an integrated boutique focused on research, strategy, and investment banking advisory exclusively for the Satellite & Space industry. Drawing on decades of experience and in-depth knowledge of Satellite & Space markets, Quilty Analytics offers an unmatched combination of financial, technical, and strategic insights that drive better investment and policy decisions.

Quilty Analytics' proprietary financial models and market assessments underpin our independent research, strategy guidance, and investment banking advisory – services that we provide to a growing number of industry stakeholders. Sized and structured for rapid response, Quilty Analytics' deep knowledge and expertise across Satellite & Space Markets are anchored by strong executive-level relationships and a rich transactional history.

To learn more about Quilty Analytics' subscription-based research services or advisory offerings, please contact us at: info@quiltyanalytics.com

For Further Information: Gerry Nagler, Quilty Analytics, +1.609.649.4422,
Gerry@Quiltyanalytics.com